F. SCOTT KIEFF

Stevenson Bernard Professor

GW Law School

2000 H Street NW
Washington, DC 20052

(202) 994-4644

skieff@law.gwu.edu

The Honorable F. Scott Kieff is the Stevenson Bernard Professor at GW Law School, founder of Kieff Strategies LLC, and a visiting fellow at Stanford University's Hoover Institution. After nomination by President Obama and unanimous confirmation by the Senate, he was Commissioner of the U.S. International Trade Commission from 2013-2017. He also served during the Bush, Obama, and Trump Administrations as an SGE in the SES on advisory panels in the national security defense-intelligence community as well as on matters of economics, innovation, and oversight and compliance. He was previously a professor of law and medicine at Washington University in Saint Louis and a Senior Fellow at Stanford University's Hoover Institution. A former law clerk to U.S. Circuit Judge Giles S. Rich, and graduate of Penn Law School and MIT, he was elected to the European Academy of Sciences and Arts in 2012.