Milan is a référendaire (senior legal adviser) at the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU) in Luxembourg, currently working in the cabinet of Advocate-General Laila Medina.

Since 2006, Milan has worked in this role on a great number of EU law cases. He has especially been responsible for some of the biggest competition law cases at the CJEU, but also for leading cases on the rule of law and the principle of judicial independence as well as cases in intellectual property law, access to documents and tax law.

Milan also deals with a wide range of cases before the CJEU involving, for instance, the jurisdiction of courts and Internet, privacy, electronic communications and regulation, etc.

Prior to the CJEU, Milan worked at the US law firm Willkie Farr LLP and at the European Commission. He is a co-author of ‘Bellamy & Child: EU Law of Competition’ (Oxford University Press) and of ‘European Court Procedure: A Practical Guide’ (Hart Publishing).
