Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer LLP

Based in Dusseldorf and Munich, Wolrad is partner in the German patent litigation team at Freshfields. Wolrad has been working over 20 years in the field of intellectual property and particularly patents and has built an extensive track record in patent litigation and enforcement proceedings, acting and advising on a wide range of proceedings before the specialized patent courts in Germany and on cross-border proceedings. A wide range of national and international clients from the technology and telecommunication as well as biotech and pharma sectors trust his strategic advice and representation in court proceedings, both before German courts and before the UPC.

Prior to joining Freshfields in 2009, Wolrad worked as research associate at the Max Planck Institute for Intellectual Property, Competition and Tax law and as Program Director of the Munich Intellectual Property Law Center (MIPLC), where he was responsible, among others, for its LL.M. IP program.

Wolrad completed his legal education at the universities of Heidelberg and Munich and the George-Washington University Law School. During his LLM studies, he worked as a judicial intern for The Hon Judge Randall R. Rader at the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. Wolrad was admitted to the German Bar in 2003.

Wolrad gave numerous presentations and authored numerous articles in the field of Intellectual Property. He co-authored the books International Arbitration of Intellectual Property Disputes and Intellectual Property and Competition Law.

Wolrad is regularly ranked in the international lead tables. JUVE quoted competitors commenting on him as follows:

“First -class team leader and coordination of complex patent disputes” and “strong presence, precise to the smallest detail”

Wolrad speaks German, English, Russian and French.
